A year of sketches and studies. This sketchbook was produced with the generous support of the Richard and Rhoda Goldman Fund. It is a pleasure to present this sketchbook dedicated to studies and drawings in oil, gouache, and acrylic from the past year. In this volume, we encounter a wide variety of subjects such as landscapes, still lifes, portraiture, and figure studies. All these paintings are executed in a small format, with a limited palette of natural and non-natural materials and processes. The artist makes generous use of his most prominent tools: the palette knife and the finger. Over the past four years, the artist has acquired a technique that reflects his devotion to forms derived from the intangible. An approach that led him to the conclusion that the figure needs to be created from the very inside, that is, from the invisible and unknown inner space. Over the past year, we have witnessed the artist's dramatic move away from a figurative style and towards a more personal, introspective approach.

More than anything, the artist remains faithful to his mission of bringing into existence an emotional space that provokes a strong physical response in the viewer, whether it is a personal, spiritual, intellectual, or even a physical response. We have previously shared the artist's talent and vision with the world. The presence of this new work, which we invite you to look at and enjoy, allows us to mark yet another stage in his artistic journey. iain blake i 82157476af
